To whom it may concern,

We recently were made aware that the Basement flatwork was poured prior to prior to the approval of the underslab plumbing. It appears that the underslab plumbing inspection was called in but was denied due to silt fence. It is the construction managers job to make sure inspections are passed before proceeding forward with additional work. The previous superintendent that we had working in this area for 2 months has been let go due to lack of performance. We completely understand the process of completing inspections and apologize for the mistake. This will not happen again.

Sincerely,

Greg Cox
