Comments from neighbors

- Who owns the lot?
 - Through a very generous donation, Pro Deo has been able to purchase the lot
- Comment from the neighbor next door, Julie Fields, project looks gorgeous, but does anyone want to buy her house?
 - This development will invest a few million dollars on the corner of Douglas and Blue Parkway and will provide a very needed resource for the community.
- Will the current Pro Deo facility close and this be the only one?
 - Yes this facility will provide additional resources that the current facility cannot and there will not currently be a need for additional locations.
- With 40 or so kids there everyday how do you prevent loitering?
 - Kids are either dropped off at the facility or Pro Deo vehicles will provide transportation to and from. The facility operates 3 to 5, Monday through Friday with Friday being the most attended day.
- Can anyone just show up?
 - Everyone must register prior to coming so staff knows how to properly prepare for the days activities.
- If a teen has a need bigger than Pro Deo can support, what do you do?
 - Pro Deo has created a network of resources to attempt to meet every need for every teen to provide them the best opportunity for success.
- Will there be a fence between adjacent neighbor?
 - Yes, there is currently shown a 6' vinyl fence between the Pro Deo site and the adjacent neighbor to provide an opaque screen. Additionally a robust amount of landscaping will be installed along the Pro Deo side of the fence to provide a buffer.
